

GIANTS AND THEIR BOY ALLIES FALL PREY TO PIRATES

Pittsburgh Takes First Game of Series, Though Much Outnumbered.

M'GRAW EASY FOR GIRL PITCHER

Hans Wagner Goes Hitless for the Day, but Others Shoulder the Batting Burden.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.

The Pirates do not fear sheer numbers. A uniformed and hostile force of more than two thousand players was pitted against the team from Pittsburgh at the Polo Grounds yesterday, and yet the invaders won the first game of the series by a score of 3 to 2.

Only eleven men actually got into action against the Pirates, but the rest gladly would have responded to a call for volunteers. These reserve forces were made up of the recreation centre teams that are competing in The Tribune's Baseball Tournament. The boys gave form and body to the pennant procession just before the game, when the flag which the Giants won in the National League for the season of 1913 was raised in centre field.

There they got! said the sentimentalists, with their eyes fixed upon the young marchers. "In those very ranks are the Ty-Cobbs and the Frank Bakers of to-morrow."

"Yes," answered his pessimistic friend, "and the Bill Holdens and the John Andersons."

For the feminist the afternoon was a triumph. Miss Florrie O'Rourke, of the Bloomer Girls, pitcher and shortstop, too, burned over a few in front of the stand. Then she walked to the centre of the diamond and pitched to McGraw. First she gave him the curve, over the right-hand corner, and he missed it a foot. The next was a splitter, and that fooled him. He did not expect to find it in the repository of a lady. For the last one Miss O'Rourke came up on her toes and put her back and shoulders into the pitch. It was plain speed and sized over the plate wait high. "Strike!" said Matty, and stuck to his decision, in spite of the protests of McGraw.

Miss O'Rourke, being under contract to the Bloomer Girls, could not be used against Pittsburgh, and Marquard took her place. He did well enough for a man, even though he was a girl.

Among the active playing forces of the day was Hans Wagner, the clean-up man from Pittsburgh. If advertising rates were not so high one might almost refer to him as the "Old Dutch Cleanser." And yet he added nothing to his collection of base hits yesterday.

Last week Wagner made his 3,000th base hit, but he found no peace. He is not willing to stand upon his record and rest, for when a close decision went against him yesterday he kicked as hard as any player striving to reach the dozen mark. Four thousand is the record at which Wagner now aims.

When Wagner made his 3,000th hit in Boston Fred Clarke told him that the Pirates wanted to hold a little celebration in his honor, but Wagner refused to attend any party, saying that he purposed to take his celebration out in fishing. He caught ten pickerel in the Charles.

The fish of New York harbor and surrounding waters may keep their seats, for Wagner did nothing to cause celebration yesterday. Indeed, for a time it seemed as if none of the visitors could do anything against the multitude banded against them.

Dave Robertson, who has been getting into a game every now and again, started a contest for the first time, and he was the man who put the Giants in the lead at the very beginning of the game.

Bescher singled, and after Burns had been thrown out Fletcher was hit by a pitched ball. Doyle forced Bescher at third, and then Robertson hammered a ball long and hard into centre field. It was a fine drive, but it would have been an out if Joe Kelley had not misjudged the ball. Over the tops of his fingers flew the drive, and it netted the batter three bases and brought Doyle and Fletcher home.

Burns cut off possible runs for Pittsburgh in the second and third innings with good catches in deep left. In the fifth the Pirates tied the score. Mitchell and McCarthy both singled and Gibson sent a slow, teasing Texas League of a double into right, which brought Mitchell across the plate. "Iahe" Adams struck out. Carey hoisted a fly in short centre, and Bescher, after a long journey over the slippery turf, dropped the ball, allowing McCarthy to come home with the tying run.

In the eighth Mowrey singled to right and took second on a sacrifice by Kelley. Wagner was safe on Fletcher's fumble, and Mowrey went to third. Konechy sent a drive almost to the centre fence. Bescher caught the ball, but could not prevent Mowrey from scoring the winning run after the catch.

Kelley made a great catch of a drive by Burns in the eighth, and a double play killed a rally by the Giants in the ninth.

NAPS RISE UP IN NINTH AND WIN

Jackson Leads Rally with a Double, and Senators Bow Again.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—Cleveland in an exciting game here to-day defeated Washington by a score of 7 to 6.

A single by pinch-hitter Williams in the eighth gave the Senators two runs, which put them in the lead.

In the Naps' half of the ninth Joe Jackson, who has a lame knee, batted for Collamore, and doubled. Graneby beat out a bunt. Shaw went into the box for Washington. Turner drove a triple against the wall in right, scoring two runs and winning the game.

Roy Wood, recruit, made a homer with one on in the seventh. It was the first four-base hit the Naps have made this year.

NEW SHAMROCK BEATS OLD

Challenger Shows Well in a Moderate Shamrock.

Southampton, June 15.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's Cup, beat the old Shamrock by 9 minutes 4 seconds to-day in a reach heat and a reach home over a fifteen-mile course in a moderate breeze.

After the spin the challenger went into dock at Gosport, where some slight alterations are to be effected.

It is generally assumed that, owing to the exceptional stiffness of Shamrock IV, she will be lightened, and it is considered not improbable that the centre-board may be dispensed with, as she sails to windward so well without using it.

Yankees Refuse to Give Up Their Losing Ways

Prove a Stepping Stone for the Detroit Tigers to Second Place.

WARHOP STARTS GAME, THEN K'ATING FAILS

Pete Daley Scores Only Run for Chance with a Clean Single in Fourth Inning.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Detroit, June 15.—Reading the riot act, shifting the team about in the hope of developing power, threatening players with trips to the minors, apparently has no effect on the New York Yankees. Having lost yesterday's game to the Detroit Tigers, Chance's boys made no exception of the struggle this afternoon, and again tasted defeat by a score of 4 to 1. The Tigers clawed their way into second place as a result of the victory.

Jack Warhop, leading exponent of the underhand delivery, browbeat around for slightly more than two innings, and allowed two runs. Then he was removed in order that his friends might recognize him. Ray Keating, from 'way down East, was sent in to do emergency work, but failed. The Tigers mauled him for two more runs.

The Yankees had a good chance to make a fight of it in the fourth inning. Boehler lost his sense of direction momentarily and passed three men. Pete Daley, the new outsider, inserted a single into the proceedings, yet only one run was scored.

Poolhardy base running was at the bottom of this, for two runners matched their speed against the accuracy of Oscar Stange's arm. Since the latter was in the midst of a good day, they failed. Donie Bush collaborated with his catcher in breaking up an attempted double steal.

The Tigers started to eat off Warhop's hand in the second frame. Veach greeted him with a single to right, and advanced on a sacrifice bunt by "Handsome" Marty Kavanaugh. Burns fouled out, but Stange ripped off a triple to right and scored Veach. Not long after Boehler sent a sizzling grounder to short field which bounced off Boone's glove and scored Stange.

The Yankees made a little noise, but only a little, in the fourth inning. Truesdale walked, Peckinpaugh fouled out and the former died stealing. Hartzell walked, however, and a moment later Cook also strolled. Daley then singled, scoring Hartzell and putting Cook on third. Cook and Daley tied the double steal, but the former was out at the plate.

In the last half of the fourth Burns walked, and after Stange struck out scored on a triple by Boehler. The last named also counted on a perfectly executed squeeze play, with Bush doing the bunting.

Cornell Beats Penn After Real Ninth Inning Rally

Regan Has One Bad Frame and Visitors Score All Their Runs—Misplays Frequent.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Ithaca, N. Y., June 15.—Cornell won the second of the series of the games with Pennsylvania on Percy Field here to-day by a score of 5 to 4.

Cornell just noosed out the visitors in the last inning, when, with one down, Irwin muffed Schirick's fly and the latter stole second, and scored the winning run when Wisner threw over Schirick's head.

Cornell got away to a good lead in the first inning, when Bills put a hot one through Wisner and advanced to third on Grossman's two-bagger. In the fourth inning the Quakers came back at Cornell, setting four runs. When the umpire called a balk on him after catching Irwin, Cornell then, when the smoke had cleared, four Pennsylvania men had crossed the rubber.

Irwin went to third on a passed ball, Minds bunted, scoring Irwin. Regan threw over Schirick's head and Minds took second. Williams was hit by a pitched ball, Schwert singled, Summerbee fumbled, Minds and Williams scoring, and Schwert stole home when Regan put another one over Schirick's head. Regan then steadied and struck out Wallace and Schimpf. Cornell tied the score in the eighth.
